Kanazawa University
Senior High School

The second grade students of this school carry out a simulated international conference. We discuss how to save food in 2050. For the discussion, we visited some international organizations and companies. We learned about what Japan do in order to save food and reduce person who dies of hunger. Then, we wondered how our discussion can help to change our mind. Therefore, we had a QUINOA dish experience.

Simulated International Conference

We can get a lot of SKILLS

- negotiating power
- communication ability
- research ability
- some knowledge of international problems...

Depend on information from the Internet
→there are some real limitations to the Internet informatic
Unrealistic!

We estimate wasted time...!?

Q. Did you come to be interested in the international situation and hunger?*

How can we change this 30%??*

Evaluation from organizations and companies*

Experience Quinoa

Quinoa rice

Quinoa soup

The reaction of students.....*

It tastes bad (._.)*

We take everyday food for granted!*

Conclusion

To try anything and experience anything subjectively is important to change our mind.
Then, we need to spread our activities on other schools or other areas.
