

The literary seeds that Soseki left behind

Yukina Okamoto / Chihiro Izumi / Himena Kono / Eriko Aibara

【Soseki's Life】

- 1867 born in Tokyo
- 1894 graduated from Tokyo Imperial Uni.
- 1895 came to teach in Matsuyama Higashi
- 1900 sent to England to study English
- 1906 Published “Botchan”
- 1916 Died

【Soseki's Turning points】

Unexpectedly came to Matsuyama

Unexpectedly went to London

【Soseki's Quotes】

The more you frequently lie and talk big, the more others look down on you

Sokutenkyoshi
↓
Selfishness devotion to justice

【Soseki's Effect】

Matsuyama → city of literature city of KOTOBA

The Soseki's seeds have now bloomed into globally minded influences, and the Japanese people enjoy the fruits of these labors.