

What is Stitches for Riches?

"Stitches for Riches" is a unique sewing and fair trade project that brings together Cambodian mothers and Keimei students. The goal is to provide educational support for families living in ailing and impoverished areas in Cambodia. Whether it's one child or many, we want to help provide a pathway towards education for children in need.

NEGATIVE CHAIN

By negative chain we mean the influence of history on Cambodia today

Change in the mothers' thoughts towards education

- Now, the mothers use the money for their children's education
- They learned to work and earn with pleasure
- They have become more independent

Future Goals

- Support more schools in Cambodia with the help of other schools in Japan.
- For Cambodia to be independent and escape from the negative chain.
